Internship Reference

Mr. Samuel Afriyie Opoku, born on 18th February 1998, completed a full-time internship at Tanz der Kulturen e.V. from June 2025 until November 2025 in the role of Digital Learning Design Intern.

Responsibilities

During his internship, Mr. Opoku was entrusted with highly responsible tasks, including:

- Designed 25+ accessible multimedia learning assets (infographics, promotional materials) in line with WCAG 2.1, expanding reach to diverse learner groups.
- Curated and structured 50+ educational resources for multicultural art pedagogy, supporting 200+ international, community, and ERASMUS learners.
- Localized 300+ pages of German instructional content, including the Rituelle Tanz Pädagogik book, into English using AI-assisted translation, preserving natural flow.

Performance & Skills

Mr. Opoku distinguished himself through an exceptional ability to quickly understand complex requirements and translate them into effective, high-quality results. His work was characterized by:

- Excellent knowledge and application of instructional design principles.
- Strong technical and creative skills in multimedia and layout design.
- A keen eye for detail combined with the ability to align content with brand identity.
- High linguistic competence and cultural sensitivity when working with multilingual content.

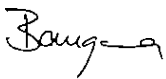

He always completed his tasks with the utmost care, precision, and efficiency. His performance was consistently of outstanding quality and he exceeded expectations in every respect.

Conduct

Mr. Opoku's behavior towards supervisors, colleagues, and external partners was exemplary at all times. He was valued as a reliable, motivated, and inspiring team member who contributed positively to the work environment.

Closing

We thank Mr. Opoku for his excellent contribution during his internship. We regret his departure and wish him every success in his future professional and academic career, convinced that he will achieve great things.
